

Jeremy Smitheal
Managing Partner
Riverside
Austin, TX

Jeremy joined Riverside in 1995 and is involved with the firm's investment and development projects. Prior to Riverside Resources, Jeremy worked as a corporate finance analyst at Bear Stearns & Company, participating in all aspects of investment banking including mergers and acquisitions, valuations and equity and debt offerings.

Jeremy currently serves as an adjunct professor in the Finance Department at the University of Texas at Austin, McCombs School of Business, teaching BBA and MBA classes on Real Estate Investments and Development and Decision Making since 2007. He was the 2013 recipient of the McCombs School of Business M.B.A. Rising Star Award and has served on various councils and committees including, strategic housing, curriculum, and real estate.

Outside the office, Jeremy has also been active in various civic and professional organizations including currently or previously serving on the UT Real Estate Center; on the University of Texas at Austin Development Board; UT Chancellor's Council; Dean's Leadership Circle; the Real Estate Council of Austin; Commercial Leasing Brokers Association; Austin Commercial Real Estate Society; the Nature Conservancy; Boy Scouts Capitol Area Council; and Helping Hand Home for Children.

Jeremy obtained a B.B.A. with highest honors with a dual major in Finance and Real Estate and an M.B.A. from the University of Texas at Austin.